The McDonald Air Race Team Warms-Up for Race Season with Local Charity Efforts

Greenwood Village, Colo., May 10, 2010 – The McDonald Air Race Team, a T-6 Gold Class, National Air Race competitor, warms-up for the 2010 September races by offering silent auction air rides to local charities and families.

Recently, the McDonald Air Race Team donated an exclusive aircraft ride to the Denver Press Club's annual Damon Runyon event, which honors the annual Runyon Award winner and raises money for both the historic Denver Press Club as well as their Journalism Scholarship fund. During this event, the local Naherny family generously bid on the donated T-6 ride, and not only helped to support the local press community, but won the chance to fly in a nationally recognized race aircraft. The donated flight was not only a fundraising success, but an absolute pleasure for race pilot John Zayac and the extremely charitable and fun to work with Naherny family.

The McDonald Air Race Team's next silent auction event will be the 7th Annual Jumping Jack for Duchenne Muscular Dystrophy Golf Tournament and Silent Auction hosted June 28th, 2010 at the Ranch Country Club. The event raises money for Parent Project Muscular Dystrophy and their efforts to find the cure for muscular dystrophy.
